

Waking up to the commotion of my parents in the kitchen unloading groceries, I leave my bed to help. As I help unload the groceries, I analyze the variety of groceries to realize my Father plans on busting out the grill to cook my favorite dish. My heart skips a beat knowing that today once again I'm able to experience the delicacy of carne asada.